ONE HOME TEAM SALUTES ANOTHER.

Three cheers for the Houston Astros, Houston's home team, from all of us at TranStar, Houston Hobby's home team.

It's hard to imagine the Astros are 26 years old — a youngster by baseball standards — yet they've already won two division championships. TranStar is a youngster in our league, too, but we're already hitting home runs in places like Los Angeles, New Orleans and Miami.

So hats off to the Astros, the home team that took us all the way to the playoffs last year, from TranStar, the home team that takes you to cities coast-to-coast in style.

Fly TranStar®

Houston Hobby is our home.

DR. JOHN J. McMULLEN

Chairman

Beginning his eighth year as Chairman of the Board of the Houston Sports Association and the Houston Astros, Dr. John J. McMullen has been responsible for the organization's revitalization and progress.

Since his purchase of the club on May 10, 1979, and with the support of the Harris County Commissioner's Court, the Astrodome has undergone a multimillion dollar renovation to again make it a showcase for the City of Houston and the nation. On the field, the Astros have become a team of the '80s, winning Western Division Championships in 1980 and 1986, and winning a second half title in 1981 before falling in the divisional playoff.

McMullen ventured into baseball in 1974 as a limited partner in the New York Yankees. His interest in the game has expanded to include his serving on several Major League Baseball committees, and carried over to his role as majority owner of the New Jersey Devils of the National Hockey League.

Highly respected in his own field of naval architecture and shipping, McMullen put together a distinguished career in the U.S. Navy before entering private business. After earning a degree in Electrical Engineering from the Naval Academy in 1940, he served from 1940-54, resigning from active service with the rank of Commander. While in the Navy, McMullen earned his Master's Degree in Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a Doctor of Mechanical Engineering Degree at the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology.

Following his discharge from the Navy, McMullen was Chief of the U.S. Maritime Administration Office of Ship Construction and Repair in Washington from 1954-57. His main business concern since 1957 has been his role as Chairman of John J. McMullen Associates, Inc., a naval architecture firm. He also owns and operates several other private companies and major real estate holdings.

McMullen and his wife Jacqueline have three children, Peter, Catherine and John, Jr., all shareholders in the Houston Sports Association.

DICK WAGNER

President & General Manager

Entering his 21st season in Major League Baseball, Astros President and General Manager Dick Wagner continues the building process he started on September 13, 1985, when he was hired by Dr. John J. McMullen, Chairman of the parent Houston Sports Association.

An exponent of team speed for AstroTurf surfaces and believer in a strong minor league organization, Wagner has more than 30 years of baseball experience. Houston is his third big league team, all in the National League, and he spent 12 years as a minor league executive.

After working two seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, Wagner joined the Cincinnati Reds in 1967 as Assistant to the Executive Vice President and supervised the team's business operation. He was later named Executive Vice President and in 1977 added the title of General Manager to his responsibilities. In 1978, Wagner was promoted to President and Chief Executive Officer.

Cincinnati's success during the 1970s included six division championships, two National League titles and a pair of World Championships. The club drew a remarkable two million or more paid at home for eight straight years as fans responded to fine teams and new marketing strategies pioneered in the Ohio city.

Out of the Navy in 1947, Wagner was the youngest General Manager, 19, ever to run a franchise (Thomasville of the Georgia-Florida League). The Sporting News named him its Minor League Executive of the Year in 1958 while running the Lincoln, Neb., club.

In the three periods he was not serving a club, he held sports-related positions which included arena management, general manager of a radio station and an executive of Ice Capades, Inc. After leaving the Reds in 1983, Wagner operated his own consulting firm, RGW Enterprises, Inc., on a full-time basis.

Wagner's wife Gloria is from the same hometown (Central City, Neb.). They have two children, Randolph G. Wagner of Houston, and Cynthia K. Wagner of Philadelphia.

HAL LANIER

#22 - Manager

BIRTHDATE: July 4, 1942

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 44

BIRTHPLACE: Denton, N.C.

BATS: Right

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-2

WEIGHT: 200

After being named manager of the Houston Astros on November 5, 1985, Hal Lanier vowed to bring a more aggressive style of baseball to his new club. That style was to be tailored to the running game and with strict attention to the fundamentals.

It took Lanier only 11 months before he delivered on his promise. By October of 1986, Lanier and the Astros had run away with the National League Western Division, winning the flag by 10 games and winning a club record 96 games in the process. The club then extended the eventual World Champion New York Mets to 16 innings in the sixth game of the League Championship Series before seeing the year come to a close.

For his efforts, the rookie skipper was named Major League Manager of the Year by the Associated Press, co-big league Manager of the Year by The Sporting News, and National League Manager of the year by the United Press International and the Baseball Writers Association of America. The BBWAA honor marked the first time it had ever been won by a rookie manager.

The success Lanier and the Astros enjoyed in 1986 was not an overnight occurrence. His managing style was fashioned over a 10-year period, first as a minor league manager, then as a coach on the staff of Whitey Herzog with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lanier spent five seasons as a minor league manager in the St. Louis organization. During those five seasons his clubs never finished lower than third place and all but one had records over the .500 mark. Lanier's record as a minor league skipper was 384-308, a winning percentage of .555.

The Astros' skipper started his managing career in 1976 at St. Petersburg. The next season he moved to Gastonia and led the club to a Carolina League championship. Lanier was named the league's Manager of the Year following that season, then moved back to St. Petersburg in 1978 where he led the team to a first half title and a second place finish in the second half.

A move to Triple A was in order in 1979 and Lanier piloted Springfield to a second place finish in the Eastern Division of the American Association. Then in 1980, he led Springfield to a 75-61 mark and a division title. The club went on to defeat Denver four games to one to win the Association title and earn Lanier Manager of the Year acclaim from The Sporting News.

From 1981 through 1985, Lanier was a coach with the Cardinals and part of a World Championship team in 1982, and a National League pennant winner in 1985. His first three seasons in St. Louis, Lanier worked as the first base coach. Then in 1984 he shifted to third base and spent two seasons there.

As a player, Lanier signed with the San Francisco Giants organization in 1961 and broke into the major leagues in 1964. He made it to San Francisco as a second baseman, but soon moved to shortstop and was the club's regular there until 1971, the same year the Giants won the Western Division flag. Always a steady fielder, Lanier led the National League shortstops in putouts and fielding percentage in 1968.

In 10 seasons in the major leagues, Lanier played on only one team, the 1973 New York Yankees, that finished with a record below .500 (80-82). The Astros' skipper spent the 1974 and 1975 seasons in Tulsa of the American Association, and in the second year worked as a player-coach.

Lanier is the son of former major league pitcher Max Lanier of the Cardinals. His father pitched in three World Series, two of which resulted in World Championships (1942 and 1944). In his three World Series seasons, the elder Lanier fashioned a 45-27 regular season record with a 2.47 ERA. His mark in World Series competition was 2-1 with a 1.71 ERA.

The manager and his wife Mary live in the Pecan Grove area of Houston.

The Astros have made three trips into post-season play and have lost to the eventual World Champions each time. Houston fell to Philadelphia three games to two in 1980 and the Phillies went on to defeat the Royals. In 1981, the Astros met the Dodgers in the Western Division Championship series and again fell 3-2. Los Angeles then went on to defeat Montreal and the New York Yankees for the title. In 1986 Houston dropped the NLCS to the New York Mets four games to two and the Mets went on to edge the Red Sox for the World Championship.

YOGI BERRA

#8 - Coach

BIRTHDATE: May 12, 1925

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 61

BIRTHPLACE: St. Louis, Mo.

BATS: Left

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 5-8

WEIGHT: 190

Yogi Berra broke with tradition in 1986, when for the first time since 1946, the year he broke into the major leagues, he worked for a big league club outside of New York City.

The Hall of Famer is back for his second season on manager Hal Lanier's staff in 1987 and will again work with the catchers and aide the skipper on the bench during games. The Astros coach has six years of big league managing experience of his own and opened the 1985 season as skipper of the New York Yankees. Two of his clubs, the 1964 Yankees and the 1973 New York Mets, were pennant winners, making him one of only five managers ever to represent both leagues in a World Series. The 1987 season marks Berra's 17th as a big league coach, having worked with the Mets from 1965 through 1971 and the Yankees from 1976 to 1983.

The words World Series and Berra have almost become synonymous. He has been involved in 21 Fall Classics, including a record 14 as a player, four as a Yankees coach, one as a Mets coach and one each managing the Yankees and Mets. He holds the Series record for games, at bats, hits, singles, consecutive errorless games and hit a grand slam in 1956.

A three-time winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player award (1951, 1954, 1955), Berra was selected to the league's All-Star team 15 times in his career. His 30 homers in a season on two different occasions was an American League record for a catcher until being surpassed in 1982 by Detroit's Lance Parrish. Other career highlights include handling 950 consecutive chances without an error (1957-59), and having his uniform number 8 retired by the Yankees in 1972, then brought back for his return in 1976.

Berra and his wife Carmen have three sons, Larry, Jr., who played in the Mets organization, Tim, a former wide receiver with the football Giants and Colts, and Dale, who has played for the Yankees and Pirates and finished the 1986 campaign in the Houston organization.

KEVIN BASS

#17 - Outfielder

BIRTHDATE: May 12, 1959

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 27

BIRTHPLACE: Redwood City, Calif.

HOME: Sugar Land, Texas

BATS: Switch

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-0

WEIGHT: 180

M.L. SERVICE: 4 years, 73 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Traded from Milwaukee on August 30, 1982 along with Mike Madden and Frank DiPino for Don Sutton.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Blossomed into an All-Star performer as he became the Astros regular right fielder. Bass led the squad in hitting (.311) and hits (184) while finishing fourth in the league in average and fifth in hits. Also ranked fifth in the league and second on the squad with a .486 slugging percentage. Selected to the 1986 All-Star team and went on the finish seventh in the MVP balloting, one of three Astros (Glenn Davis—second; Mike Scott—10th) to finish in the top ten in the voting. Opened the season with a solid first two months (.276, 4 HR, 14 RBI) but then exploded in June. Bass hit .378 with seven homers and 15 RBI in the month and was named as both the Player of the Week for June 23-29 and then the Player of the Month for June. Went on to hit no lower than .290 in each of the last three months to finish at .311. Average dipped below .300 for the last time on July 21, but Bass then climbed back over that mark for good by putting together a 20-game hitting streak from July 22 to August 13. His streak tied Rusty Staub's 1967 effort as the fourth longest streak in club history and the longest since Dickie Thon hit in 21 straight in 1982. Chalked up his first career five-hit game at Philadelphia on July 24. Became the Astros first 20-20 man (steals and homers) since Dickie Thon stole 34 and hit 20 homers in 1983 and only the third in the club's history (Cesar Cedeno did it three times). Began the year in center field, but switched to right with the development of Billy Hatcher in center. Hit .424 vs. Cincinnati on the year and ended the year with a 12-game hitting streak vs. the Reds (.23-for-45; .511). Hit over .300 from both sides of the plate (.324 righthanded; .302 lefthanded).

IN THE NLCS: Bass hit .292 vs. the Mets, and hit in four of six games, including three two-hit games.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Saw action in 150 games and put together some outstanding numbers after getting the chance to play every day. Finished second on the squad in homers (16), runs (72), RBI (68) and stolen bases (19); third in at bats (539), hits and doubles; fourth in triples, and fifth in game winning RBI. Slugged a pair of homers for the first time in his career when he drove out two against Montreal in the Dome on July 5. Led the Astros with nine homers in the Astrodome. 1984—Began the season on the DL with a pulled right thigh muscle. Led the Astros in pinch hitting with a .295 average (13-44), but also started 63 games. Tied a club record with three doubles vs. Los Angeles on September 25. 1983—Saw action as both a spot starter and pinch hitter. Led the Astros with 11 pinch hits (11-43, .256) 1982—Began the season with Milwaukee, but was sent to Vancouver in May after failing to pick up a hit in nine at bats. Was hitting .315 in Triple A when he was traded to the Astros. Drove in a run with his first major league hit, a single off of Atlee Hammaker of the Giants on September 8.

IN THE MINORS: Named to the Midwest League All-Star team in 1978 and to the Eastern League squad in 1980. Led the EL in doubles (31) and was eighth in batting (.300) in 1980. Fifth in the PCL in slugging in 1982 (.528) before joining Houston.

MISCELLANEOUS: Originally signed by the Brewers as their second round pick of the June 1977 draft after completing his career at Menlo Park High School.

PERSONAL: Bass, wife Elaine, and their son Garrett make their home in Sugar Land, Texas.

ERIC BULLOCK

#9 - Outfielder

BIRTHDATE: February 16, 1960

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 27

BIRTHPLACE: Los Angeles, Calif.

HOME: Carson, Calif.

THROWS: Left

HEIGHT: 5-11

WEIGHT: 185

M.L. SERVICE: 55 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Signed by the Astros as their first round pick of the secondary phase of the June 1981 draft.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Hit .357 in the spring and broke camp with the big club after both Jose Cruz and Terry Puhl were placed on the DL. Was in the starting lineup on Opening Night, but was sent down to Tucson on April 19 when Cruz was activated. Hit .048 in 21 at bats before returning to Tucson. But before he saw any action with the Toros, Bullock aggravated an old injury to his right foot that dated back to playing junior college football and he underwent surgery to repair a joint alignment. Returned to the lineup for the first time on July 7 vs. Calgary, then two games later started a streak of five straight multi-hit games. Put together an 18-game hitting streak from July 24 to August 11 that saw him hit .471 (33-for-70). Had his only four-hit game during his streak, going four-for-five with three RBI vs. Vancouver on August 1. Also had four, three-hit and 11 two-hit games in his abbreviated year at Tucson.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Called up when Terry Puhl went on the disabled list on August 26. First major league hit was a two-run pinch hit double off the Cubs Jay Baller to win the game on September 2. Picked up his first two-hit game in his second start (vs. Atlanta on September 30). Before moving up to Houston, Bullock hit .319 at Tucson, good enough for seventh in the PCL. 1984—On the Astros 40-man roster during spring training, but split the year between Columbus and Tucson.

IN THE MINORS: Named to the Florida State League All-Star team in 1982, finishing second with a .339 average and tying for the lead with 85 RBI. Fifth in the Southern League with 42 steals in just 71 games before moving up to Tucson. Third in the Pacific Coast League with 48 steals in 1985.

MISCELLANEOUS: Drafted twice before signing with the Astros. Bullock was selected by the Dodgers in the 18th round of the June 1978 draft out of South Gate (Calif.) High School, and in the first round of the June 1981 secondary phase by the Padres. Attended Harbor Junior College, as did Astros catcher Alan Ashby.

PERSONAL: Bullock is single and lives in Carson, California in the off-season.

- Selected by the San Diego Padres in the first round of the January 1981 draft.
- Selected by the Houston Astros in the first round of the June 1981 draft's secondary phase.

GLENN DAVIS

#27 - Infielder

BIRTHDATE: March 28, 1961

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 26

BIRTHPLACE: Jacksonville, Fla.

HOME: Columbus, Ga.

BATS: Right

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-3

WEIGHT: 200

M.L. SERVICE: 1 year, 145 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Signed as the Astros first selection in the secondary phase of the January, 1981 draft.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: The runner-up in the 1986 MVP voting with 231 points to Mike Schmidt's 287, Davis finished higher than any Astro in the annual post-season balloting. A member of the NL All-Star team and The Sporting News Silver Slugger Team in his first full year in the league, Davis became only the second Houston player to hit 30 homers in a season by slugging 31 in 1986. Only Jimmy Wynn, who hit 37 in 1967 and 33 in 1969, hit more homers in a season with the Astros. Davis' 31 homers also broke the club record for round trippers by a first baseman (29) set by Lee May in 1972. Davis' 53 career homers in 985 at bats (one per 18.6 AB) already rank him tenth on the Astros all-time chart and his 26 homers in the Dome tie him for ninth with Joe Morgan. Showed a flair for the dramatic home run, with one each in the bottom of the eighth, ninth and tenth to drive in the game winner in the Astros last at bat. Drilled a two-run shot off of Ted Power on June 23 in the bottom of the ninth to spoil a Reds rally and give Houston a 7-6 win. His lead-off shot in the bottom of the tenth (his first extra-inning homer) off of Floyd Youmans broke up a tight pitching duel to give the Astros a 1-0 win over Montreal on July 22. Led the squad with 16 game winning RBI, which also tied him with Gary Carter for the NL lead, and were the most by an Astro since Dickie Thon set the club record with 18 in 1983. Best month of the season in terms of average was in May when he hit .301 with four homers and 14 RBI, but he added 15 homers and 44 RBI in June and July while hitting .274. Had a pair of two-homer games. The first was part of a three-for-three, three RBI effort at Pittsburgh on May 10, and the second helped him to a career-high five RBI at Montreal on July 7. Longest hitting streak of the season was an eight game streak from July 12 to July 22. Had four straight multi-hit games from June 23 to June 27, going 10-for-17 (.588) over that stretch. Had a total of 40 multi-hit games (third on the squad) including 29 two-hit and 11 three-hit games. Scored at least one run in five straight games twice during the year.

IN THE NLCS: Davis homered in his first LCS at bat (the third NL player to do so) to provide the only run in the Astros 1-0 victory in the opening game of the series. He went on to hit in five of the six games, including a three-for-seven, two-RBI effort in the Game Six, and finished with a .269 average in the series.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Named to the TOPPS All-Rookie team after setting a Houston rookie record by slugging 20 homers and driving in 64 runs, which led all ML rookies. Struggled with the big club in spring training and was sent to Tucson to start the season. Hit .305 in 60 games at Tucson before being called up June 13 when Terry Puhl went on the disabled list. Struggled in his first 29 games with the Astros, hitting just .222 with two homers and eight RBI. Slugged two homers against Philadelphia on July 23. 1984—Hit safely in his first 8 starts after being called up from Tucson. Doubled off of the Cardinals' Ricky Horton in his first game for his first major league hit. Slugged 16 homers and drove in 94 runs at Tucson before joining the Astros.

IN THE MINORS: Named to the TOPPS All-Star Class A team and to the Florida State League All-Star team after tying for the league lead with 19 homers and leading the league with a .557 slugging percentage in 1982. Tied for the Southern League lead with 25 homers and named to the league's All-Star team in 1983.

MISCELLANEOUS: Hit .293 with 76 homers in 507 games in the minor leagues. Graduated from University Christian High School in Jacksonville, Fla. in 1979 and also attended the University of Georgia and Manatee JC before signing with the Astros. Davis hit .394 with 14 homers and 54 RBI in his one season at Georgia.

PERSONAL: Davis, his wife Teresa and their daughter Sharayah Rochelle make their home in Columbus, Georgia.

#43 - Lefthanded Pitcher

BIRTHDATE: June 23, 1960

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 26

BIRTHPLACE: Massena, N.Y.

HOME: Massena, N.Y.

THROWS: Left

HEIGHT: 6-4

WEIGHT: 225

M.L. SERVICE: 1 year, 41 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Traded to Houston along with Neder de Jesus Horta and Dody Rather by the Yankees in exchange for Joe Niekro on September 15, 1985

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Set an Astros rookie record and led all rookie hurlers in the NL with 12 wins in 1986 and his .706 winning percentage (12-5) was the fifth best in the league. Wrapped up an impressive first season by finishing seventh in the NL Rookie of the Year voting. Ended the regular season by not allowing a run in his last 19 innings (three starts) while winning each. Began that final streak by setting a modern day major league record to start off his first ML shutout and complete game. On September 23 against the Dodgers at the Dome, Deshaies struck out the first eight men he faced to break Joe Cowley's record of seven set earlier in 1986. Deshaies went on to fan 10 in the game (his third double figure strikeout game of the year) and hold the Dodgers to just two hits on his way to a 4-0 decision. Went on the 15-day DL on April 21 due to tendinitis in his left shoulder and stood 0-1 with 6.60 after his first four starts of the year. He picked up his first ML win at St. Louis on May 26 with a 10-strikeout effort, giving up three hits and one run in seven innings. He lost his next start, vs. the Cardinals in the Dome on June 3, but then went on a streak that saw him win eight of his next nine and 11 of his final 14 decisions. Struck out his career-high of 11 (in seven innings) at New York on July 3. Finished the season with a 9-1 record and 2.65 ERA in 15 starts against the Western Division, including a 3-0 mark and 1.09 ERA in four starts against Atlanta.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Saw action in a pair of games for Houston after joining the club in September. Didn't give up a run in stints of 1.2 innings against Cincinnati and 1.1 against Los Angeles. Got off to a blazing start at the Yankees Triple A club at Columbus. DeShaies was 8-1 with a 2.41 ERA, 66 strikeouts and 22 walks in his first 74.2 innings. 1984—Named the Yankees Minor League Pitcher of the Year in the 1984 after moving from Nashville in Double A to Columbus and then on to the Yankees. Became the 1000th player to wear the Yankees major league uniform. Tossed a no-hitter before leaving Nashville, and hurled four shutouts and nine complete games at Columbus. First major league start came at Yankee Stadium on August 7 against the White Sox, where he was beaten 6-3 by Lamarr Hoyt. Made one other start before returning to Columbus.

IN THE MINORS: Led the New York-Penn League with 137 strikeouts in 1982 and named to the All-Star team. Finished third in the Florida State League with a 2.52 ERA in 1983. Tossed a no-hitter for Nashville vs. the Columbus Astros on May 4, 1984. Promoted to Columbus of the International League where he led the loop with a 2.39 ERA and tied for the league lead with four shutouts.

MISCELLANEOUS: Drafted by the Expos in the 13th round of the June, 1978 regular phase after completing his high school career at Massena Central High School. Signed by the Yankees as their 21st selection of the June 1982 draft after graduating from LeMoyne College in Syracuse, New York. At LeMoyne, Deshaies was 33-9 with a 2.59 ERA in four years. As a freshman in 1979, Deshaies and the Reds Tom Browning led LeMoyne to the Division II College World Series.

PERSONAL: Deshaies and wife Lori and make their home in Massena, NY.

BIRTHDATE: May 28, 1958

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 28

BIRTHPLACE: Cincinnati, Ohio

HOME: Cincinnati, Ohio

BATS: Switch

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-0

M.L. SERVICE: 4 years, 31 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Signed as the Astros sixth round pick in the regular phase of the June 1979 draft.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Finished 11th in the league's MVP voting (picking up one second place vote) after a season that saw him finish fifth in the league in steals (42) and walks (81), seventh in runs (92) and tenth in on-base percentage (.368). Finished second behind the Dodgers Steve Sax at second base in the AP post-season major league all-star team balloting. His 42 steals were a career high and made him the first Astro to steal more than 40 bases since Cesar Cedeño swiped 48 in 1980, while the 92 runs tied his career best first set in 1984. Also became the seventh Houston player to total more than 100 career steals, finishing with 103. Scored a career-high four runs vs. the Braves on April 13 and went on to have the best April of his career, hitting .306 and vaulting to the top of the league lists in steals and walks. Walked a club-high three times in a game three times and also scored two or more runs 17 times during the year. Put together his longest hitting streak of the year (11 games) from August 11-September 2, despite missing six games during that streak because of a pulled right groin muscle. Split his six homers evenly between the Dome and the road, with all three of his homers at home leading off the game for the Astros and two of the three providing the game-winning RBI. Hit his first two homers of the year in back-to-back road games at San Diego on June 9-10. Finished second on the squad with 42 multi-hit games, including 36 two-hit and six three-hit games.

IN THE NLCS: Doran hit safely in four of the six games against the Mets, including a pair of two-hit games (Games Three and Six). He led the squad in post-season action with 27 at bats, and tied for the lead in homers (1) and RBI (3).

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Named the Astros' MVP for the year after putting together his best season. Finished 15th in the National League batting race with his .287 average. Established new career highs for average, at bats (578), hits (166), doubles (31), homers (14), RBI (59), and stolen bases (23). Ranked third among National League second basemen as compiled by the Elias Sports Bureau, which ranks players in seven statistical categories and averages their ranks in each. Slapped out five hits in a game vs. New York on July 11 (the same night Nolan Ryan passed the 4,000 strikeout mark). Drove in a career-high five runs against the Cubs on August 27. Tied the club record for homers by a second baseman, set by Joe Morgan in 1965 and then tied by Morgan in 1969, with his final homer of 1985 off of Cincinnati's Ron Robinson on September 27. 1984—Hitting just .156 as late as May 11. Doran changed to a more choke-up grip and hit .286 the rest of the year. Finished third in the National League with a career-high 11 triples. Put together the longest hitting streak of his career (15 games). 1983—Struggled at the start of his first full year in the majors, hitting just .179 in April, but hit .286 for the rest of the season and wound up fifth in the NL Rookie of the Year voting. 1982—Joined Houston for the final month of the season after hitting .302 and stealing 48 bases in his only season in Triple A.

IN THE MINORS: Led Southern League second basemen in double plays with 102 and was named to the SL All-Star team. Led the Pacific Coast League in games with 142 and was third with 48 stolen bases. Named to PCL All-Star team in 1982.

MISCELLANEOUS: Graduated from Mt. Healthy High in Cincinnati in 1976. A three-sport star in high school, Doran concentrated on baseball at Miami (Ohio) University where he won All-America and All-Mid American Conference honors while hitting .407 as a junior before signing with the Astros in 1979. While at Miami, Doran was a teammate of the Royals' Charlie Leibrandt.

The Houston Astros own a share of the major league record for grand slam home runs in an inning with two as they tied a feat originally set by the Minnesota Twins.

On July 30, 1969 in Shea Stadium in New York, Denis Menke and Jim Wynn connected for slams in the ninth inning to duplicate the accomplishment of the Twins Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew versus the Cleveland Indians on July 18, 1962.

Wound up the year by finishing second on the club and eighth in the league with 38 steals. BATS: Left

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Joined the Astros along with Chris Bourjos from San Francisco on December 8, 1980 in exchange for Eros Cabell.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Tied his career high for wins, and the Astros record for wins by a lefthander as well, by winning 17 games for Houston in 1986. His 17 wins were two more than his previous Houston best of 15 set in 1984 and 1985 and equalled his career top of 17 set with the Giants in 1978. Tied with Mike Scott for the ML lead in shutouts with five, one shy of his career high of six set in 1978, and also finished third in the league in innings pitched (258), tied with Dwight Gooden for fifth in wins, tied with Orel Hershisser for sixth in complete games (six), and finished tenth in ERA (3.14). Knepper opened the season by winning his first five starts, from April 10 to May 14, the sixth time in his career that he has won five straight decisions. He picked up the Astros first win of the season, tossing a five-hit shutout against the Giants on April 10. Went on to win nine of his first 11 to stand at 9-2 with a 2.38 ERA on June 1. Won his 100th career game in the majors during that stretch, a 4-3 decision over the Reds at Riverfront Stadium on April 19. After a rough stretch in late June and early July that saw him go 0-4 in seven starts, Knepper bounced back after the All-Star break with a pair of wins in three days against the Mets. First he tossed a three-hit shutout on July 18—the first blanking of the Mets in 111 games, and then came back in relief on July 20 to pick up the win in Houston's 15-inning 9-8 win. Knepper also made one other relief appearance in a marathon game, hurling two scoreless innings during the Astros 18-inning, two-day win vs. the Cubs at Wrigley Field on September 2-3. Knepper was 1-0 while not allowing a run in three innings of relief in 1986. Tossed four of his five shutouts in the Astrodome, to raise his career total to 27. His lone road shutout in 1986 came at Atlanta on August 15. Finished up the regular season by tossing five perfect innings against the Braves at the Dome on October 5 to pick up his 17th win of the year.

IN THE NLCS: Knepper made a pair of starts against the Mets (Game Three and Six), but wasn't involved in either decision. Gave up eight hits and four runs (three earned in seven innings) in his first start, then surrendered five hits and three runs in 8.1 innings while fanning six in the final game of the series.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Led the squad in innings pitched (241) and starts (37) and tied for team lead in complete games (4). Opened the year with a 5-0 record and 3.70 ERA. 1984—Bounced back from an 11-28 record the previous two seasons to post a 15-10 mark. Tied for fourth in the league with 11 complete games and with three shutouts. 1983—Ranked 12th in the league with a 3.18 ERA. 1982: Earned the only save of his major league career on September 21 vs. Atlanta. 1981—Finished second in the league with a 2.18 ERA and with five shutouts. Named to N.L. All-Star squad and pitched two scoreless innings against the American League while striking out three. 1980—Struggled to a 9-16 record before being traded to the Astros. 1979—Won six of his first eight decisions, then struggled the rest of the way, winning just three of his last 13. 1978—Led NL lefthanders in ERA and led the league in shutouts in his first full season. NL Pitcher-of-the-Month in May with 4-1 mark and 1.62 ERA. Tossed back-to-back shutouts against Houston and San Diego. 1977—Called up after an injury to John Montefusco, Knepper went on to win 11 an lose nine. Tossed a four-hit shutout over Pittsburgh in his third start of the year. 1976—Called up in September, Knepper beat Atlanta 4-1 on September 22 for his first major league win.

Set a five-game National League Championship Series record with his .526 average (10-19) against the Phillies. 1979—Set career highs for games (157), hits (172) and tied his best for runs (87). Led the club in hits and runs. Tied the major league record for outfielders by not committing an error in over 150 games in a single season. 1978—Named to the N.L. All-Star squad, but did not play. Stole a career-high 32 bases in his first full season with the Astros. Hit safely in a career-high 18 consecutive games. 1977—Hit .301 in 60 games after being called up to Houston just three days after his 21st birthday.

IN THE MINORS: Finished second to Pedro Guerrero in the Midwest League batting race in 1975 (.345 to .332).

CRAIG REYNOLDS

#12 - Infielder

BIRTHDATE: December 27, 1952

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 34

BIRTHPLACE: Houston, Tex.

HOME: Houston, Tex.

BATS: Left

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-1

WEIGHT: 175

M.L. SERVICE: 10 years, 92 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Joined the Astros from the Seattle Mariners on December 8, 1978 in exchange for Floyd Bannister

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: One of the Astros top clutch hitters in 1986, Reynolds collected four of his eight game-winning RBI in the Astros last at-bat. Gave an early indication of what was ahead when he drilled a pinch hit grand slam—the Astros first since Cliff Johnson hit one on June 15, 1975 and the 3rd in club history—off of Rick Mahler on April 12 to give the Astros a 4-2 win over the Braves at the Dome. Hit a two-out solo homer off of the Mets Roger McDowell in the bottom of the ninth to give the Astros a 5-4 win on July 19 that moved them back into first place for good. His pinch hit grand slam started his longest hitting streak of the year, a six-game stretch that went from April 12-24. Hit the Braves hard all year, ending the season with a .375 average (15-for-40) and 18 RBI. Hit .292 at the Dome with four of his six homers, but his RBI total was evenly divided between the Dome and the road (21-20). Combined with Dickie Thon at short to commit just 17 errors all season (seven by Reynolds). Showed his versatility all season, seeing action at third, first and in right, in addition to taking a turn on the mound. Reynolds came on to pitch the ninth inning of a 13-2 loss to the Mets on July 17. He gave up three runs on three hits, walked two and struck out one (Howard Johnson). Had 17 multi-hit games (14 two-hit, three three-hit) and eight multi-RBI games (six with two, one with three and one with four).

IN THE NLCS: Reynolds saw action in four games against the Mets, including three starts at short. He hit in all three starts, including a two-for-three effort in Game One. He came on as a pinch hitter in Game Six, then stayed in the game going hitless in three at bats.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Ranked as the fifth best shortstop in the National League in rankings compiled by the Elias Sports Bureau, Reynolds handled the brunt of the chores at shortstop while Dickie Thon struggled in the early season to come back from his injury. Hit .272, his highest average as an Astro. 1984—Became the every-day shortstop after Thon was injured against the Mets in the fifth game of the season. Tied for fourth in the N.L. in triples (11). Slugged a grand slam against the Giants on September 6. 1983—Saw action in the middle infield positions as a back-up. 1982—Suffered dizzy spells throughout the season due to benign positional vertigo. 1981—Tied for the league lead with a career-high 12 triples. Tied a major league record with three triples against Chicago on May 16. 1980—Went 3-for-4 in the one game playoff in Los Angeles. 1979—Hit a career-high 20 doubles and had his league highs in hits (147) and runs (63). Received the Danny Thompson Award for best exemplifying the Christian way of life. Set a club record with 34 sacrifice hits. 1978—(with Seattle) Member of the American League All-Star team. Set career-highs for average .292, hits (160), and games (147). 1977—Third toughest A.L. player to strike out, averaging one every 18.26 at bats. Started a triple play against Kansas City on April 22. 1976—(with Pittsburgh) Spent most of the year in Charleston, but saw action in seven games for the Pirates. 1975—Called up in mid-July. Collected his first M.L. hit against New York on August 3.

MISCELLANEOUS: Drafted by the Pirates after completing a stellar career at Houston's Reagan High School. Name Houston's Top High School Athlete in 1971.

PERSONAL: Reynolds, wife Josey and children Ashlyn and Kyle make their home in Houston.

NOLAN RYAN

#34 - Righthanded Pitcher

BIRTHDATE: January 31, 1947

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 40

BIRTHPLACE: Refugio, Tex.

HOME: Alvin, Tex.

BATS: Right

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-2

WEIGHT: 210

M.L. SERVICE: 19 years, 101 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Signed as a re-entry free agent on November 19, 1979.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: After a rocky first half of the year that saw him post a 3-6 record and 5.21 ERA in the first two months, Major League Baseball's all-time strikeout king was one of the dominant hurlers in the game over the last four months. Ryan combined with Mike Scott for a powerful strikeout duo that led the Astros to a team total of 1160 strikeouts, the second highest total in NL and fourth highest total in ML history. Ryan battled a sore right elbow all season and was twice placed on the DL to treat a sprained medial collateral ligament. He first was disabled on June 2 after leaving a game against the Expos on May 31 after just one inning. Upon his return, Ryan was 4-1 with 2.16 ERA in his next six starts, but his most memorable effort of the year may have been in his one non-decision during that span. Against the Expos at the Dome on July 22, Ryan and Floyd Youmans hooked up in a classic pitching duel that stretched into the tenth inning. Ryan struck out 14, his highest total as an Astro and his best effort since 1979 when he wiffed 16 with the Angels, and tossed 9.1 shutout innings of one-hit baseball, but was lifted for Dave Smith in the tenth after a pair of walks. The Astros won the game 1-0 on Glenn Davis' leadoff homer in the bottom of the tenth off of Youmans, who finished with a three-hitter. Ryan fanned 10 in five innngs at Philadelphia in his next start (July 27), but again left the game early because of soreness in the elbow and was placed back on the DL on July 30. After a 15-day rest, Ryan resumed his rampage. He was 5-1 with a 2.31 ERA in ten starts, while fanning 68 in his last 62.1 innings. He won his 250th game by tossing six shutout innings against Chicago on August 27. His top outing down the stretch may have been against the Giants on September 24 as the Astros clinched a tie for the Western Division title. Ryan gave up just a seventh inning single over eight innings and struck out 12 as Houston won 6-0. In his 18 starts after first going on the DL Ryan was 9-2 with a 2.24 ERA and 135 strikeouts in 109.1 innings. He gave up 10 homers in his first 65.2 innings prior to being disabled, compared to only four in his last 109.1 innings. Ryan allowed more than five hits in only two of his last 23 starts and won his last four decisions to move into a tie for 34th on the all-time list with Carl Hubbell with 253 career wins. He averaged 9.8 strikeouts per nine innings in 1986, his highest total since he fanned an average of 9.96 per nine in 1978 and above his ML record career average of 9.35. He also reached double figures in K's four times to raise his career total of 162, also a ML record. Ryan was also productive at the plate, driving in five runs (including two vs. the Giants on April 16) for his highest RBI total since he drove in six in 1980.

IN THE NLCS: Ryan made a pair of starts against the Mets, taking the loss in Game Two and a non-decision in Game Five. Ryan gave up five runs on seven hits and fanned five in the Mets 5-1 win in Game Two and then gave up just two hits and one run while striking out 12 over nine innings in Game Five. His 12 strikeouts against the Mets made him just the fourth pitcher to fan ten or more in an NLCS start, joining Mike Scott, Tom Seaver and John Candelaria, and his 17 K's in the series raised his career total to 46 in four LCS to set a career record for total series.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Reached two milestones in his illustrious career during 1985. Became the first pitcher in major league baseball history to surpass 4,000 career strikeouts when he fanned New York's Danny Heep in the Astrodome on July 11. With his complete game 3-2 triumph over San Diego on June 12, Ryan joined Cy Young, Jim Bunning, Gaylord Perry and Ferguson Jenkins as the only pitchers to win over 100 games in each league. Selected to the All-Star Game on July 15 in Minneapolis and threw out the game's first pitch along with Cincinnati's Pete Rose. Finished third in the National League in strikeouts with 209. 1984—Despite twice going on the DL, Ryan still finished third in the league with 197 strikeouts. 1983—Struck out pinch hitter Brad Mills of Montreal on April 27 to break Walter Johnson's major league record of 3,508. 1982—Tossed the eighth one-hitter and the 18th two-hitter of his career during the year. 1981—Set a major-league record with his fifth no-hitter, a 5-0 blanking of Los Angeles on September 26 in the Astrodome. Led the league with a 1.69 ERA. Tossed a two-hitter to win Game 1 of the Divisional Championship Series against Los Angeles on October 6. 1980—Struck out Cesar Geronimo to move past 3,000 strikeouts on July 4. 1979—(with California) Led the American League in strikeouts for the fourth consecutive year with 223. Started the All-Star Game in Seattle. Drafted by 12 teams in the Free Agent Re-entry Draft before signing with Houston. 1978—Led the league with 260 strikeouts. 1977—Struck out 341. Named A.L. Pitcher of the year by The Sporting News. 1976—Had surgery to remove bone chips in his right hand in the off season, but came back to lead the league with 321 whiffs. 1975—Battled a series of injuries during the year, but was still able to fashion his fourth no-hitter with a 1-0 blanking of Baltimore on June 1. 1974—Won a career-high 22 games and his 22nd win on September 28, was also his third no-hitter. Ryan walked eight and struck out 15 while holding Minnesota hitless. 1973: Set a major league record with his 383 strikeouts. Final victim of 1973 was Rich Reese of Minnesota. Became only the fifth pitcher in history to toss two no-hitters in the same season. His first came against Kansas City on May 15, striking out 12. In the second, two months later, Ryan struck out 17 (the most ever in a no-hitter) while whitewashing Detroit 6-0 on July 15. Won 20 games for the first time in his career. 1972—Led the league with 329 strikeouts in his first season in the American League. Struck out the side on nine pitches against Boston on July 9. Tied a major league and set an American League record by striking out eight in a row. 1971—(with New York) Struck out 16 against San Diego on May 29, his top N.L. effort. 1970—Gave up only five hits in his first three starts. Held the Mets record for four days with 15 K's until Tom Seaver struck out 19 against San Diego. 1969—Hero as a reliever for the "Miracle Mets". Struck out seven and gave up just three hits in seven innings of work in the league title-clinching 7-4 win over Atlanta. Saved Game 4 of the World Series, striking out three in 2.1 innings. 1968—Struck out the side on nine pitches for the first time in his career on April 19 against Los Angeles. 1967—Missed most of the season due to military obligations. 1966—Made the jump all the way from A ball to the majors, striking out 313 in 205 innings of work at Greenville (A), Williamsport (AA) and New York.

IN THE MINORS: Led the Western Carolina League with 272 strikeouts and 17 wins and was fourth with a 2.51 ERA while earning Pitcher of the Year honors in the WCL in 1966.

MISCELLANEOUS: Ranks sixth among active pitchers with 253 wins. Drafted in the 10th round of the 1965 out of Alvin High School. Owns a total of nine one-hitters, 18 two-hitters, and 26 three-hitters. Traded from the Mets to the Angels on December 10, 1971 along with Don Rose, LeRoy Stanton, and Francisco Estrada for Jim Fregosi.

PERSONAL: Ryan, wife Ruth, and children Reid, Reese and Wendy live in Alvin, Texas.

RECAPPING RYAN'S NO-HITTERS

May 15, 1973 at Kansas City
California 3, Kansas City 0

Nolan Ryan chalked up the first of his major league record five no-hitters for the California Angels as he stopped the Kansas City Royals for the first hitless game by an Angel righthander in the club's history. Ryan finished with 12 strikeouts as he recorded at least one whiff in every inning except the fifth. The only close call of the game came in the eighth inning when Royals pinch hitter Gail Hopkins hit a looping liner into left field which shortstop Rudy Meoli came up with on a running over-the-shoulder catch with his back to the plate. The Angels and Ryan got all the offensive support they needed from rightfielder Bob Oliver, who came up with two of the three RBI with a solo home run and a single.

The "easiest" no-hitter for Ryan in terms of score as he turned in his second no-hitter of the 1973 campaign, again on the road, by stopping the Detroit Tigers 6-0. Ryan had 17 strikeouts for the game with 16 of them coming in the first seven innings. However, his arm stiffened up somewhat in the top of the eighth as the Angels batted around while scoring five runs to break open a close game. Ryan had to rely on no special defensive accomplishments to preserve the no-hitter as he became the fifth man in history to throw two no-hitters in a season.

Nolan Ryan makes the most of his final start of the 1974 campaign by ringing up his third career no-hitter to raise his final record to 22-16 at the expense of the Minnesota Twins, 4-0. Ryan started in splendid fashion as his first seven pitches were strikes and he struck out the side in both the first and second innings. He finished the game with 15 strikeouts, but also had to contend with no less than eight walks—seven of them in the first five innings. The Angels won it with two runs in both the third and fourth innings with centerfielder Morris Nettles driving home three of the them.

Nolan Ryan moved into a tie with Dodger great Sandy Koufax as he fired the fourth no-hitter of his career in nipping the Baltimore Orioles 1-0. Making his 12th start of the season, Ryan polished off the Orioles with nine strikeouts as he came up with his fourth no-hit effort in the effort in the period of 109 starts. The only offensive output in the game came in the bottom of the third when Angel third baseman Dave Chalk singled home Mickey Rivers.

History was made as Nolan Ryan became the first man in the history of the sport to pitch five no-hitters in his career as he notched a crucial 5-0 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers. He not only become the sole possessor of the record, but also kept the Astros in the running for the second half title in the National League's Western Division. In winning, Ryan wound up with 11 strikeouts (the 135th time in his career fanned 10 or more men in a game) while walking only three. He threw a total of 129 pitches (52 balls, 77 strikes). Ryan stood at 10 strikeouts through the opening six innings, but set down only one more the rest of the way as he retired the final 19 batters in a row. Catcher Alan Ashby gave the Astros a 2-0 lead with a two-run single in the third and then Houston wrapped up the win with three more tallies in the eighth.

QUICK QUOTES

May 15, 1973 after first no-hitter: "I never honestly felt I was the type of pitcher to throw a no-hitter."

July 15, 1973 after second no-hitter: "I honestly believe it will be easier for me to strike out 20 than pitch another no-hitter."

September 26, 1981 after fifth no-hitter: "The fact that this one came in a pennant race, on national TV and in front of my mom makes it that much more significant. I never think about a no-hitter until after seven innings. I've been there and lost them too often to think about it before then. But, going into the eighth I felt confident. I'm excited I was able to accomplish it because it's the one thing I wanted to do since I got the fourth one."

Astros pitcher Nolan Ryan is carried from the field by his teammates after tossing his record-breaking fifth no-hitter, against Los Angeles on September 26, 1981.

MIKE SCOTT

#33 - Righthanded Pitcher

BIRTHDATE: April 26, 1955

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 31

BIRTHPLACE: Santa Monica, Calif.

HOME: Laguna Niguel, Calif.

BATS: Right

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-3

WEIGHT: 215

M.L. SERVICE: 6 years, 132 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Traded to the Astros on December 10, 1982 from the New York Mets in exchange for Danny Heep.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Houston's first Cy Young Award winner, Scott snared the National League honor in 1986 after a dominant season that saw him lead the majors in strikeouts (306), innings (275.1), ERA (2.22) and tie for the league lead with teammate Bob Knepper with five shutouts. Edged the Dodgers Fernando Valenzuela by 10 points (98-88) for the Cy Young and went on to capture the National League Pitcher of the Year Award from The Sporting News. Also led the majors in fewest hits (5.95), fewest baserunners (8.37) and most strikeouts per nine innings (10.0). Also won the first NL Consort Control Award from The Sporting News. Selected to the NL All-Star squad, Scott fanned two in one inning of work. Capped off a phenomenal regular season by tossing a no-hitter as the Astros clinched the Western Division title with a 2-0 win over the Giants in the Dome on September 25. Scott fanned 13 and walked just two as he became the first pitcher to hurl a no-hitter in a pennant-clinching situation. He made one more start in the regular season, on October 2 at San Francisco, and held the Giants hitless for another seven innings. In that same game, he became the 11th major league, fourth National League pitcher and second NL righthander to fan 300 in a season with his second inning strikeout of Candy Maldonado. Scott joined former Astro J.R. Richard as the only righthanders in NL history to fan 300 and Scott's 306 K's were the most since Richard set the NL record with 313 in 1979. Down the stretch, Scott was nearly unstoppable, with a 12-5 record in his last 19 starts including a 1.97 ERA (32 ER in 146.1 innings) and 170 strikeouts. In his last four starts at home, Scott was 4-0 with a 1.71 ERA and 37 strikeouts and five walks in 31.2 innings of work. On the season, Scott allowed more than three runs in just four of his 37 starts and only one in his last 30. He opened the 1986 season having never fanned more than eight in a game, yet he went on to fan nine or more 19 times during the season, including 10 games in double figures. He reached double figures in three of his last four outings, including a career-high 14 vs. the Padres at San Diego on September 14. He struck out the side 25 times in 1986 and became the 11th NL and 18th ML pitcher to fan four in an inning, at Chicago on September 3. His strikeout-to-walks ratio (4.25) led all starters in the league and was also the best by an NL strikeout leader since Tom Seaver in 1971 (4.74). 8-2 with a 2.25 ERA on the road, 10-6 with a 2.20 ERA at home. Opened the year by dropping his first two starts while his ERA stood at 7.20. He reduced it to below 3.00 by his 13th start (2.84 after a 1-0 loss to Montreal on May 30) and below 2.50 to stay after his 19th start (2.35 after a 5-0 win vs. Los Angeles on June 27).

IN NLCS: Scott became the first player from a losing club to be named the MVP of the NLCS since the awards were started in 1977, by setting a total of five records and tying three others. Scott tossed a pair of complete games, hurling a total of 18 innings (including 16 scoreless frames) and striking out a total of 19 to set records. He became the first pitcher in NLCS history to toss a complete game 1-0 win, finishing with a five-hitter and striking out 14 to tie a series mark. He also struck out four straight in the first and second innings to tie yet another series mark. He came back in Game Four to toss a three-hitter, striking out five and walking none.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Used a new split fingered fastball to great effect, leading the club with a career-high 18 wins. Scott's record stood at 5-4 on June 26, but after tossing nine innings of three-hit ball without a decision against Atlanta on June 26, Scott won 13 of his next 15 starts. Tossed a pair of four-hit shutouts during the year. Had only a 2-2 mark and 3.59 ERA in the first two months, but a 16-6 record and 3.20 ERA in the final four. Slugged his first ML homer off of Tom Browning of Cincinnati on July 31. 1984—Slumped to a 5-11 record in his second season with the Astros. 1983—Began the season on the disabled list. Saw his first action on May 6. Won 10 games and tossed a career-high two shutouts. 1982—(With New York) Split time between the bullpen and the starting rotation. Picked up his only three major league saves. 1981—Finished second on the Mets with 23 starts and 136 innings. 1980—

Called up to New York for the final month of the season. Tossed first major league shutout against St. Louis on September 28, 1979—Out-dueling Vida Blue and San Francisco to win his first major league game in his first try, on April 24. Returned to Tidewater after the Mets picked up Dock Ellis and Andy Hassler.

IN THE MINORS: Led the Texas League with 14 wins, 187 innings and 14 complete games in 1977.

MISCELLANEOUS: Graduated from Hawthorne (Calif.) High School and attended Pepperdine University for three years. Earned all-conference honors at Pepperdine for three straight years finishing with a career record of 26-14 and a 2.09 ERA. His totals for wins, strikeouts (232), and innings pitched (343.2) set school records. Signed with the Mets after they made him their second pick in the June 1976 draft.

PERSONAL: Scott, wife Vicki, and children Kimberlee and Kelsey make their home in Laguna Niguel, California

DAVE SMITH

#45 - Righthanded Pitcher

BIRTHDATE: January 21, 1955

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 32

BIRTHPLACE: San Francisco, Calif.

HOME: Olivenhain, Calif.

BATS: Right

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-1

WEIGHT: 195

M.L. SERVICE: 7 years

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Signed as the Astros' eighth round selection in the June 1976 draft.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Set new season and career records for the Astros with his save efforts in 1986. Smith saved 33 games in 1986, good enough for third in the NL and six better than Fred Gladding's old club mark of 27 set in 1969. His 100 career saves easily moved him past Gladding's total of 74. Made quick work of the career save record by earning saves in his first eight appearances of 1986, with the record breaker coming on May 2 at Montreal when he picked up his eighth by retiring the only man he faced (Mitch Webster). Broke the single season mark with his 28th save of the year, at Chicago on September 1. Struck out his season high of four while working three innings (his longest outing) against the Phillies on July 12. Finished the season in spectacular fashion. In his last 22 games, Smith was 2-1 with 16 saves and converted 16 of his 18 save opportunities during that stretch to finish with 33 saves in 39 chances (and 60 of 70 over the last two years). Also allowed an earned run in just two of his last 22 appearances, a total of four runs in his final 21.1 innings (1.69 ERA). He struck out 19 in his last 18.1 innings in 1986. Toughest on the Braves, with seven saves and a 1.93 ERA in eight games, and the Dodgers with a 1-0 record and four saves in five appearances while not allow an earned run over 6.1 innings of work.

IN THE NLCS: Smith made two appearances against the Mets, giving up two runs in Game Three and none in Game Six.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Tied with Ted Power of the Reds for second in the NL with 27 saves. Appeared in 64 games, which tied Joe Sambito's 1980 total for second on the all-time chart. Converted on 27 of 31 save opportunities. 1984—Earned four of his five saves for the year in a period of six games from June 14 to July 4. 1983—3-0 with 2.53 ERA and five saves over the first four months. 1982—Despite battling a bad back, Smith still led the squad with 11 saves. Made the only start of his major league career vs. Los Angeles on June 27 (two innings, four hits, two walks, three balks), but left when his back ailment flared up. 1981—4-0, 0.77 and five saves after the end of the strike. 1980—Finished fourth in the N.L. Rookie of the Year voting after going 7-5 with a 1.92 ERA and 10 saves. First major league win was in his first appearance, downing Los Angeles on April 11. First major league save was against Chicago on June 16.

IN THE MINORS: A starter in most of his first four seasons before switching to the bullpen at mid-season of 1979.

MISCELLANEOUS: Graduated from Poway (Calif.) High School in 1973 and attended San Diego State where he played for three years before the Astros drafted him in 1976. Smith was 14-16 with a 3.23 ERA in his three years at SDSU. He earned All-PCAA honors as a freshman in 1974.

PERSONAL: Smith, wife Mia, and son Kellan live in Olivenhain, California.

SMITH'S CAREER TRANSACTIONS

- Selected by Houston Astros in eighth round of free-agent draft, June 8, 1976.

DICKIE THON

#10 - Infielder

BIRTHDATE: June 20, 1958

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 28

BIRTHPLACE: South Bend, Ind.

HOME: Dorado, P.R.

BATS: Right THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 5-11 WEIGHT: 175

M.L. SERVICE: 7 years, 94 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Traded to the Astros on April 1, 1981 from the California Angels in exchange for Ken Forsch.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: Combined with Craig Reynolds in the Astros platoon system at shortstop to give the Astros stability all season. Committed just 10 errors and combined with Reynolds to finish with just 17 for the year. Opened the season in sizzling fashion, hitting .538 over the first five games (7-for-13) including a pair of three-hit games and four doubles. Struggled during the middle of the season and went on the 15-day DL on June 9 after complaining of blurred vision. A check with doctors revealed no problems and Thon returned to hit .281 the rest of the way. Hit .298 in his last 38 starts. Put together his longest hitting streak of the year over five games from September 7-12 when he hit .444 (8-for-18). Hit three homers in 1986 and all three were on the road (May 11 at Pittsburgh, August 3 at San Diego, September 3 at Chicago). Thon's last homer in the Dome was on September 14, 1985. Top season series came vs. the Phillies, as he hit .360 (9-for-25). Finished up the year by hitting .298 in September and October.

IN THE NLCS: Thon appeared in five of the six games against the Mets and made three starts. Hit .300 in his starting assignments, including a pair of hits in Game Two. His only other hit in the series was a solo homer to pad the Astro lead in a 3-1 win in Game Four.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Struggled at the start of the year as he attempted to come back from a career-threatening injury when he was struck just above and to the left of his left eye by a pitch thrown by Mike Torrez of the Mets on April 8, 1984. Had a promising spring, but struggled in the early part of the year, hitting just .207 and went on the 15-day DL on May 19. Hit .296 from July 10 to the end of the season. 1984—Hit safely in his first four games before being injured. Thon's injury was officially an inferior orbital rim fracture in the left temple region, a fracture more commonly referred to as a tripod fracture due to the shape of the crack. Pitch actually glanced off the flap of his batting helmet and then down into the temple area. Underwent immediate X-rays and subsequent CAT scan at Methodist Hospital under the direction of team physician Dr. Bill Bryan along with neurosurgeon Dr. Richard Harper and Dr. Dan Jones (Chairman of Ophthalmology at the Baylor College of Medicine). Main problem became one of tissue swelling in the back of the eye which drastically impaired his vision. Was operated on April 11 for minor surgery to facilitate proper healing of the fracture as a small piece of bone was wired back into position. Surgery was performed at Methodist Hospital by Dr. John Christ. Vision continued to improve at a slow pace. Was examined in Alhambra, Calif. at the USC School of Medicine by Dr. Stephen Ryan with the vision placed at 20/40 in the left eye (at which it remained for virtually the remainder of the year) and that time was the "cure" (rather than corrective surgery or any kind of glasses). Was given approval at that point to begin light workouts and to take batting practice when he felt comfortable at the plate. Made just part of one road trip with the club in late August-early September, but left halfway through with some slight headaches. 1983—Named to The Sporting News' and UPI National League All-Star squads after banging out 20 homers along with a .286 average and a league-leading 18 game-winning RBI. 1982—Took over as the Astros regular shortstop and put together the third longest hitting streak in club history—21 games—from July 24 to August 14. 1981—Traded to Houston just prior to the start of the season. Hit .471 as a starter over the last 10 games of the year. 1980—Leading the Pacific Coast League with a .394 average when he was called up to California. Went 5-for-5 against Texas one day after joining the Angels. Saw action at all the infield positions. 1979—Singled in his first major league at-bat on May 27.

IN THE MINORS: Thon hit .292 with 81 steals in 410 minor league games before reaching the majors for good in 1980.

MISCELLANEOUS: Born in South Bend while his father, Fred was attending Notre Dame University. Raised in Puerto Rico where his father was a player and manager for 12 years.

PERSONAL: Thon, wife Sol, and children Soleil Marie, and Vanessa make their home in Dorado, Puerto Rico.

The old inter-league trading deadline had proved to be an accurate indicator of the eventual Western Division champion. In 13 of 17 years of divisional play (discounting the shortened 1981 season) the eventual Western Champion has been in the lead on June 15. Last season the Astros led the West by two games on the 15th.

DENNY WALLING

#29 - Infielder

BIRTHDATE: April 17, 1954

1987 OPENING DAY AGE: 32

BIRTHPLACE: Neptune, N.J.

HOME: Waynesboro, Va.

BATS: Left

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6-1

WEIGHT: 185

M.L. SERVICE: 9 years, 63 days

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1987

HOW OBTAINED: Traded to the Astros on June 15, 1977 from the Oakland A's for Willie Crawford.

1986 HIGHLIGHTS: As part of the Astros productive platoon at third base, Walling became one of the Astros prime offensive weapons over the second half of the season and went on to chalk up career-highs in nearly every offensive single-game and career category. Walling hit .293 in the first three months of the year, but starting with a four-for-five, two-homer, six-RBI day against the Padres on July 2, he hit .328 the rest of the way. Walling entered 1986 with 28 career homers and a season-high of seven (1985), but he blasted 13 in 1986, including a pair of homers for the first time in his career vs. the Padres on July 2 and then equalled that effort August 5 at Los Angeles. His six RBI against the Padres on July 2 also tied the club record. After his outburst against the Padres, Walling never went more than two games without collecting a base hit over the final three months. Led the squad with three four-hit days (July 2 vs. San Diego, July 10 vs. Philadelphia, August 5 vs. Los Angeles). Equalled the longest hitting streak of his career with a 12-game tear from August 22 to September 6, during which he hit .444 (20-for-45) with a pair of homers and 10 RBI. Homered to give Mike Scott the only run he would need in his pennant-clinching no-hitter against the Giants on September 25. Hit better than .285 in every month of the season except for June (.267) and drove in 35 of his 58 runs in July and August. Top average was a .435 effort against the Cardinals, but he was most productive against the Padres as a team and Andy Hawkins in particular. Walling hit four homers and drove in 18 runs against the Padres, all four of the homers and 11 of the 18 runs—in addition to a .538 average (7-for-13)—coming off of Hawkins. The Astros career-leader with 70 pinch hits, Walling hit .387 as a pinch hitter in 1986 (12-for-31).

IN THE NLCS: Walling appeared in five of the six games against the Mets, including three starts. He hit .118 as a starter (2-for-17) and .500 as a pinch hitter (1-for-2). He also drove in a pair of runs in Game Two.

CAREER RECAP: 1985—Started 82 games, with the brunt at third (48 games). Tied his career high with four hits against Atlanta on April 19. Slugged his fifth career pinch hit homer against San Francisco on September 11. 1984—Drove in a career-high six game-winning RBI and tied a club record by scoring four runs against Philadelphia on July 1. 1983—Re-signed with the Astros after being drafted by eight teams in the Free Agent Re-Entry Draft. Added third base to his list of positions at which he'd started a game. 1982—Hit .205 as a reserve. 1981—Delivered the game-winning hit with two out in the bottom of the 11th inning to down Los Angeles in Game 2 of the Divisional Championship Series. Hit .286 after the strike. 1980—Saw action mostly at first base. Scored twice in Game 5 of the League Championship Series against Philadelphia. 1979—Hit a career-high .327 in 87 games, including a career-best 14 pinch hits. Hit .378 with a homer and 11 RBI as a pinch hitter. 1978—Unanimous selection to the Baseball Bulletin's All Rookie Team. First major league homer came against Atlanta on May 20. 1977—Joined the Astros on September 25. While in the A's minor league system, Walling hit a pair of pinch hit grand slams for Charleston. 1976—Went 3-for-11 in three games with the A's. 1975—Joined the A's as soon as he signed as the first selection in the secondary phase of the June 1975 draft. Cracked out his first major league hit, a pinch hit double, against Kansas City.

MISCELLANEOUS: A consensus All-American and the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year at Clemson, hitting .431 with 13 homers and 60 RBI in 38 games. He led the nation in RBI (1.58 per game) and was a finalist for the Lefty Gomez Award as the top collegiate player in the country. Slugged three consecutive homers in one game against Wake Forest. Prior to enrolling at Clemson, Walling played for two seasons at Brookdale (N.J.) Community College.

PERSONAL: Walling, wife Teresa, and children Heather, Kyle, Kurt and Kara make their home in Waynesboro, Virginia.

LOOKING BACK TO 1986

COOL PREDICTIONS, A HOT START: Heading into the 1986 campaign, the Astros were rated as a middle division team at best. Even those predictions seemed too realistic to some as the Astros dropped the first two games of the season, but after Bob Knepper blanked the Giants 4-0, the Astros went on to win 13 of the next 17 games and take the Western Division lead as the first month of the season drew to a close. Knepper went on to win his first five decisions, giving the club its most consistent starter, and the veteran lefthander found himself challenging for the league lead in several categories. Relievers Dave Smith and Charlie Kerfeld also jumped out to hot starts. Smith converted his first eight save opportunities and established a new club career save record while Kerfeld complimented Smith with a 0.52 ERA. At the plate, Phil Garner sparked the Astros to a 7-1 record on their first road swing and earned the league's first Player of the Week award (April 14-20) by hitting .400 with four homers, eight RBI and eight runs. Craig Reynolds slugged the Astros first pinch hit grand slam in over a decade when he hit one against the Braves on April 13, beginning a season-long rampage against Atlanta. Bill Doran, a notoriously slow starter in each of his previous three full seasons, hit .306 in the first month and battled for the league lead in steals, walks, runs, and on-base percentage. Young slugger Glenn Davis opened the Astros year by homering in the bottom of the first on Opening Night, setting the tone for the season that would see him emerge as one of the top young power hitters in the game. Billy Hatcher, who had struggled throughout the spring, found himself in the lineup because of injuries to Jose Cruz and Terry Puhl and began to show signs of the potential that the Astros saw in him when they obtained him in the off-season from the Cubs. With a 14-6 record in April, Houston found itself with a 1½ game lead over another surprise team, the San Francisco Giants, while pre-season favorites Los Angeles and Cincinnati were 5½ and 7½ games behind.

MAY AND JUNE; UP AND DOWN, BUT NEVER OUT: If April had been a period where the Astros used a quick start to take the Western Division lead, the next two months were more of a holding pattern. Houston was 27-28 through May and June, but held on to first for all but nine days over the two months. The Astros showed a pattern that would become one of the keys to their eventual winning formula by staying away from any prolonged streaks and instead showing a stable personality that would develop even further as the season progressed. Houston twice lost four in a row during May and June, but balanced that with a pair of four-game winning streaks. After the last of their four losses at San Francisco from June 20-22, the Astros would never lose more than three in a row. On the mound Knepper continued to pile up wins, and he was joined by Mike Scott who began to make hitters and fans alike take notice by striking out batters at an uncharacteristic rate. Scott was 0-2 with a 7.20 ERA after his first two starts, but by the end of June was 7-5 with a 2.51 ERA and had risen to the top of the league with 148 strikeouts. Nolan Ryan battled through a rugged May and was eventually placed on the DL with a sprained ligament in his elbow as June began, but by the end of the month he showed flashes of the form that would make him one of the league's best over the second half of the season. At the plate, Davis continued to build on his reputation, hitting 12 homers over the two months—including eight in June—and hitting over .300 in May. Hatcher hit .310 in May, making the slow recuperations by Cruz and Puhl easier to handle. But it was Hatcher's running mate in the outfield, Kevin Bass, who really burst upon the scene in May and June. Bass hit a solid .287 in May, but that was nothing compared to his success in June. He hit .378 for the month and earned both the National League's Player of the Month and Player of the Week awards (June 23-29). The Astros were also busy looking to add the final ingredients to the championship mix. To shore up the bullpen, Houston signed former Phillie Larry Andersen in May and added Detroit-ex Aurelio Lopez in June. Both produced immediately, with Andersen providing valuable middle inning relief and Lopez taking on some of the closing chores after Charlie Kerfeld went on the DL in mid-June.

ALL-STARS AND LAST AT BATS: The national baseball spotlight focused on Houston in earnest in July. First there was the matter of hosting the 57th All-Star Game and later the Astros themselves would make the headlines. With their success on the field through the first three months, the Astros were well represented in front of the hometown folks at the mid-summer classic, with a club-record four Houston players (Bass, Davis, Scott, and Smith) selected to play for the National League squad. A sellout crowd of 45,774 saw Davis, Bass and Scott all play in the 3-2 American League win. The excitement that the All-Star Game generated was only amplified by the Astros start when the season resumed two days later. After dropping the first game to the Mets, the Astros ran off a streak of seven straight wins, including five in their last at-bat. Ryan dominated throughout the month, winning three of four over five starts, but his most remarkable outing was his one non-decision. He fanned 14 and allowed just one hit over 9.1 innings as Houston beat Montreal 1-0 on a leadoff homer in the bottom of the tenth by Davis. Ryan fanned 10 in five innings in his next start at Philadelphia, but left the game with a sore elbow and was placed back on the DL as the month came to a close. Scott continued to pile up the strikeouts, while Knepper bounced back from a mild slump to win three times during the month. Davis slugged seven homers and drove in 24 runs, while Denny Walling and Alan Ashby emerged as offensive threats. Walling drove in 18 runs and slugged four homers, while Ashby hit .298 for the month and sparked after taking over the everyday chores at catcher.

NO DOG DAYS: As the rest of the West waited for the Astros to wilt under the pressure of a pennant race, the Astros deflected all serious threats and increased their lead over the rest of the division from 4½ by 7 games by the end of August. Old reliables like Jose Cruz began to produce offensively, while Ryan, Scott and Jim Deshaies put together a solid month on the mound. Cruz hit .327 and drove in 17 runs, while Walling continued to prosper as he platooned with Garner, hitting .351. Billy Hatcher chipped in with a .322 mark and Kevin Bass came in at .290. Houston weathered a charge by the defending champion Dodgers by taking three of four games in Houston after dropping two of three on the coast. Houston also made one final move to bolster its chances for the pennant by picking up Danny Darwin from the Brewers on August 15.

WRAP IT UP: With the pennant on the line, the Astros responded like champions, putting together their best month by winning 18 of 27 and hitting a season-high .271. Starting with a three-game sweep of the Cubs, in which Darwin picked up a pair of wins, Houston met each challenge, eventually wrapping up the pennant with three memorable days of pitching in the Dome. But while the Western flag was clinched at home, the season was wrapped up for all practical purposes with a three-game sweep of the second place Reds in Cincinnati in mid-September. The Astros came to town with their lead whittled to seven games and having lost four of their last five. Bob Knepper and Larry Andersen combined for a 6-1 win the first night; Darwin tossed his first NL complete game and Jose Cruz hit a pair of homers the next; and Matt Keough and Aurelio Lopez stifled the Reds in the third game to build Houston's lead back to 10 games with 16 left to play. It was then up to Houston to win at home and the pitching lineup of Deshaies, Ryan and Scott did just that as they took turns bettering the other's performance. First it was Deshaies against the Dodgers, striking out a modern-day major league record eight straight hitters to open the game and cruising to his first ML complete game and shutout with a two-hitter. Then it was Ryan, holding the Giants hitless until the seventh and finishing with just one hit and 12 strikeouts in eight innings to beat San Francisco the next night and eliminate the Giants from the race. Finally, it was Scott punctuating a remarkable season that would eventually see him win the Cy Young Award by tossing a no-hitter—the first ever in a pennant-clinching game—to wrap up the title for the Astros on September 25. With the title in hand, the Astros continued to roll, winning seven of the last nine games after clinching to wrap up the season with a 96-66 record and a 10 game final cushion.

THE PLAYOFFS: Following the script of their first NLCS appearance in 1980, the Astros again waged one of the most furious and exciting battles in the history of the post-season competition before falling to the Mets. Scott was even more dominating than he had been in the regular season, setting a host of records by tossing a pair of complete victories, including the first 1-0 complete game in League Championship history. Davis etched his name in the books by becoming only the third player to homer in his first NLCS at bat, giving Scott the only run he would need in his 1-0 win in Game One. The Mets took Game Two 5-1, but the final four games would be as close as they could have been. New York rallied from 4-0 and 5-4 deficits to take a 6-5 victory in Game Three. Scott came back to win Game Four 3-1, and Ryan came out in Game Five and pitched his greatest post-season game ever. He fanned 12 and gave up just two hits in nine innings, but a questionable call on the base paths and Darryl Strawberry's line drive homer in the fifth left the game tied as Ryan departed. The Mets eventually won 2-1 in 12 innings, a classic game that might have been remembered as one of the best ever had it not been followed by the 16-inning marathon that was Game Six. With Knepper on the mound, the Astros took a quick 3-0 lead and made it stand up until the ninth, when the Mets rallied for three runs to send the game into extra innings. The Mets struck for a run in the 14th, but Billy Hatcher answered that with a solo homer in the bottom of the inning. New York then tallied three in the top of the 16th only to have the Astros rally for two in the bottom of the inning before Jesse Orosco struck out Kevin Bass to end the year for the Astros.

It was not until April 24th that a Houston player hit a home run in the Astrodome in league play. Bob Aspromonte connected off Vernon Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the sixth inning with one man on base.

1986 NOTABLES

ATTENDANCE: The Astros drew 1,734,276 fans in 1986, their fifth largest draw in history and their increase of 549,962 ranked second only to San Francisco in the National League. The Astros also were a popular draw on the road as well, drawing 1,818,671 for their second best road total ever and also finished 1986 with their second highest total attendance total (3,552,947). After the All-Star break, as Houston took command of the Western Division, the Astros averaged 27,072 for their final 38 home dates.

AFTER THE BREAK: Houston compiled the best record in baseball after the All-Star break posting a 49-25 record for a .662 winning percentage.

JULY 19: The Astros moved back into first place on July 19 and never relinquished it again in 1986. Craig Reynolds hit a solo homer in the bottom of the ninth off of the Mets Roger McDowell that night to give Houston a 5-4 win and a share of the lead. The Astros took over sole possession of first on July 21.

ABOUT THE RECORD: The Astros 96-66 record was the best in club history, bettering the 93-70 finish of the 1980 Astros. They were 30 games over .500 for the first time in their history and their 10-game lead at the end equaled the largest margin ever. Houston's 44-37 road record also set a club record and its 52-29 home tally tied the 1979 and 1969 squads for the second best effort. The Astros posted their best record ever over Atlanta (13-5) and tied their best mark against Cincinnati (14-4).

WILD WINS: While the final margin of victory in the West was a comfortable 10 games, that cushion was built in hair-raising fashion. The Astros won 24 games in their final at bats in 1986 (14 at home, 10 on the road), including a string of five straight from July 19-23 that also saw them move back into first for good. The Astros had 39 come-from-behind-wins in 1986, accounting for 41 percent of their final victory total. The Astros were 33-27 in one-run games, and won 16 of their last 24 one-run games. At home, Houston won 11 of the last 12 one-run games played under the Dome.

PINCH HITTING: Late inning rallies require heroes from the bench and Houston's pinch hitters took up the challenge, setting a club record with 67 pinch hits in 1986 and tying another mark with seven homers. Individually, Denny Walling extended his club career record to 70 pinch hits with 12 last year, hitting .387 (12-for-21).

ON THE BASES: The Astros returned to one of their familiar offensive weapons in 1986, stealing 163 bases—nearly double their output from 1985 (96). Bill Doran finished fifth in the league with 42 steals to become the first Astro to steal more than 40 since Cesar Cedeno swiped 48 in 1980. Billy Hatcher added 38 thefts to finish eighth in the league.

HOMERS: Houston slugged 125 homers in 1986, the most since 1974 and the third highest total in club history. First baseman Glenn Davis led the way, slamming 31 homers to become only the second Astro to hit 30 or more in a season and he also set a record for Houston first basemen with his final total. He combined with Kevin Bass to give the Astros their most productive power duo (51 homers) since Lee May (28) and Cesar Cedeno (25) combined for 53 homers in 1973. The Astros also blasted five grand slams in 1986 (one in each of the first five months of the year) to tie another club record.

STRONG ARMS: The Astros led the majors with a total of 1160 strikeouts in 1986, the second highest total in NL and the fourth highest total in major league history. The 1969 Astros set the major league record by fanning 1221 batters, while the 1967 Cleveland Indians set the American League mark with 1187. The Indians have the third highest total as well, with 1162 in 1964.

BLANKS: Houston lead the majors with 19 shutouts, tying the club record. They had eight combined blankings and 11 individual (Mike Scott and Bob Knepper - 5, Jim Deshaies - 1).

STRONG PEN: When the starters faltered, the Astros bullpen came on to settle things down. Led by Dave Smith, who set season and career records for saves, Houston's relief corps led the league with 146 relief points (30-16 record and 51 saves), 15 points better than the Mets. The Astros' 51 saves set a new club mark and their 146 points were second only to the Yankees' 153 in all of baseball in 1986.

Houston has had only four games postponed because of rain since its entrance into the National League in 1962. The first three were "rained out" and all occurred in the first season (April 23 vs. Philadelphia, June 13 vs. New York, and July 16 vs. Chicago.) The fourth game was a "rain in" and occurred on June 15 of 1976 when as much as 10 inches of rain fell in the Houston area virtually flooding the entire city.

Only members of the Houston Astros and the visiting Pittsburgh Pirates were able to make their way to the Astrodome. Umpires, fans and stadium personnel were unable to reach the ballpark.

In their 25 years in the National League, the Astros have had just three players hit for the cycle. Cesar Cedeño was the first to accomplish it, by driving in four runs against the Reds at Houston in a 10-1 win on August 2, 1972. Cedeño repeated his effort on August 9, 1976 when he drove in five runs in a 13-4 win at St. Louis. Bob Watson was the last Astro to hit for the cycle, but he took 11 innings to do it. Watson drove in five of the Astros' six runs in a 6-5 win over San Francisco on June 24, 1977 at Houston.

The Astros have turned four triple plays in their 25 year history and former Astro shortstop Robert Metzger was involved in each. Houston turned its first two in 1971, on July 16 vs. the Mets on a ground ball by Cleon Jones that went Metzger-to-Menke-to-Rader and on September 17 against the Reds on a line drive by Darrel Chaney which went Morgan-to-Metzger-to-Mayberry.

Houston then turned two more in 1978, on April 6 (opening day) vs. the Reds on a strike out by Dan Driessen that went Ferguson-to-Metzger-to-Cabell-to-Metzger and on April 21 against the Dodgers on a line out by Ron Cey which went to Watson-to-Metzger.

NEW HOME RUNS

The Astros have hit a total of 27 "new" home runs in the Astrodome since the fences were moved in prior to the start of the 1985 season. The fences were brought in ten feet down each line and in the power alleys and six feet in center field. The term "new" home runs refers to those homers that fall in the space between the old and new fences. Astros opponents have hit a total of 16 new homers. Here's a look at the individual breakdown, showing each players total of new homers and his total at the Dome over the past two years:

HOUSTON ASTROS PLAYOFF HISTORY

1980 NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

In 1980, the Houston Astros claimed their first title as National League Western Division Champions. They then met the Philadelphia Phillies in the 1980 NLCS in what turned out to be one of the most exciting series in League Championship history.

In Game One, the Astros took a 1-0 lead with a run in the third inning off Philly starter Steve Carlton in Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium. However, Phillies leftfielder Greg Luzinski blasted a two-run home run off Ken Forsch in the sixth and Philadelphia went on to take the first game, 3-1.

In Game Two at the Vet, the two clubs played the first of what would be four straight extra innings games. Once again Houston scored first with a single run in the third. The Phillies took a 2-1 lead with a pair of runs in the fourth only to have the Astros tie the game in the seventh. Each team scored a run in the eighth to send it into the tenth where Houston scored four times to even the series at one game each with a 7-4 triumph.

For Game Three, the two clubs moved to Houston's Astrodome where things really got exciting. In the third game of the best-of-five set, each club held the other scoreless through 10½ innings. In the bottom of the eleventh, Joe Morgan led off with a triple to right-center. Morgan was lifted for pinch-runner Rafael Landestoy and two intentional walks were issued to load the bases. Denny Walling lofted a fly ball to left field, Landestoy tagged up and scored the only run of the game to give Houston a 2-1 edge in the series.

Game Four had everything a baseball game could have, including tremendous controversy. After all the arguing and a delay to confer with National League President Chub Feeney, the Phillies had evened the series once again with a 5-3 win in 10 innings.

The final game of the series, Game Five, was a culmination of what the previous four games had to offer. The Astros scored a single run in the bottom of the first, only to have the Phillies take a 2-1 lead with a two runs in the second inning. Houston tied the game in the sixth and then exploded for three runs in their half of the seventh. Only six outs away from the National League pennant, Houston surrendered five runs to the Phils in the top of the eighth. But the never-say-die Astros scored two runs in their half of the eighth and the game once again went into extra innings. Philadelphia wasted no time and scored a single run in the top of the tenth to take an 8-7 decision and the National League flag.

Pinch runner Rafael Landestoy celebrates, while Phillies catcher Keith Moreland waits for the late throw from outfield as the Astros took a 2-1 lead in the series with a 1-0, 11-inning victory.

1981 NATIONAL LEAGUE WESTERN DIVISIONAL SERIES

Taking full advantage of the split season created in 1981, the Astros overcame a slow start and won the 'second' season with a 33-20 record. They then met the first half champs, the Los Angeles Dodgers, in a best-of-five series to decide the NL West Championship.

In the first game of the series in Houston, Fernando Valenzuela and Nolan Ryan battled equally for eight and one-half innings, each surrendering just one run. Then, in the bottom of the ninth with two out and Craig Reynolds at first, Houston catcher Alan Ashby crushed a pitch from LA reliever Dave Stewart into the right field seats for a game winning two-run home run.

Game Two of the series matched the first game for excitement with an equally dramatic ending. For 10½ innings, Houston and Los Angeles played scoreless baseball. But in the Astros half of the 11th inning, Phil Garner and Tony Scott each singled to open the frame. After Jose Cruz flied to left, Cesar Cedeno was intentionally walked to load the bases. Art Howe then struck out and that brought pinch-hitter Denny Walling to the plate. Walling then proceeded to succeed where others had failed all day long, he stroked a run-scoring, game-winning single to right and Houston took a commanding 2-0 lead in the best of five set with a 1-0 win.

The scene then switched to Los Angeles where the Dodger Stadium magic continued its spell over the Astros. In Game Three, the Dodgers pounced on Bob Knepper for three first inning runs and never looked back as Los Angeles made it two games to one with a 6-1 win.

The fourth game pitted rookie sensation Valenzuela against Vern Ruhle. Ruhle matched Valenzuela for four innings before Pedro Guerrero blasted a solo home run with two out in the fifth inning. Los Angeles added an insurance run in the seventh inning before Houston finally scored off Valenzuela in the top of the ninth, but the Dodgers held on to win 2-1 and even the series at two games apiece.

The deciding fifth game of the series pitted Jerry Reuss against Nolan Ryan. Once again the two pitchers matched each other for the first half of the game before the Dodgers scored three times in the bottom of the sixth. Behind the strength of Reuss' four-hit pitching, the Dodgers went on to take the game, 4-0, and the series, three games to two.

Catcher Alan Ashby finds a crowd of happy teammates waiting for him as he reaches home after slugging a game-winning, two-run, two-out homer in the first game of the Divisional Championship Series.

1986 NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

The Astros confounded the experts who tabbed them to lose 100 games prior to the 1986 season by running away with the Western Division by ten games and earning the right to meet the New York Mets, who had demolished the East by a final 21 1/2 game margin. The two clubs then locked horns in an epic series that concluded in the longest and possibly most exciting playoff game in history.

The Astros rode the pitching of Cy Young winner Mike Scott to take a one game lead in the NLCS with a 1-0 victory in Game One. Scott fanned 14 to become the first pitcher to toss a complete game 1-0 victory and Glenn Davis provided all the offense that was needed by homering in his first at bat. Davis became the third player in National League history to homer in his first career series at bat and he also collected Houston's first-ever NLCS homer.

The Mets evened the series at a game each by jumping on Houston starter Nolan Ryan for five runs and the Mets Bob Ojeda pitched out of a series of jams as New York took Game Two, 5-1. Ryan held the Mets hitless through three innings, but they broke through with a pair of runs in the fourth and three in the fifth. Ojeda scattered 10 hits to toss a complete game.

Lenny Dykstra's two-run homer with one out in the bottom of the ninth gave the Mets a 6-5 win in Game Three and a 2-1 edge in the series. Houston held leads of 4-0 and 5-4 only to see the Mets come back. Bob Knepper shut the New Yorkers out until the sixth when Darryl Strawberry slammed a three-run homer, but the Astros bounced right back when Bill Doran scored an unearned run in the seventh. That lead held until the ninth when Wally Backman opened the inning on a bunt single and then scored one out later on Dykstra's homer.

Scott came back with another powerful outing in Game Four to even the series 2-2. He tossed his second straight complete game and Alan Ashby and Dickie Thon each homered in a 3-1 Astros win. Scott ran his scoreless inning streak to 16 before the Mets finally reached him for a run in the eighth. Ashby staked his batterymate to a 2-0 lead with a two-run homer in the second and Thon added insurance with a solo blast in the fifth.

Nolan Ryan and Dwight Gooden matched fastball for fastball in Game Five, but neither were around for the finish when Gary Carter slapped a single in the bottom of the 12th to give the Mets a 2-1 win and a 3-2 lead in the series. Gooden went the first ten innings scattering nine hits, but the veteran Ryan was even better. Ryan struck out 12 in nine innings, allowing just two hits and one run, despite pitching the last five innings on a badly sprained ankle. The Astros again scored first, but Strawberry knotted the game at 1-1 in the bottom of the fourth with a line-drive homer to right.

If the first five games of the series had been exciting, they still paled in comparison to the sixth and final game. The script was familiar, Houston jumped out to an early lead only to have the Mets rally, but this time was even more dramatic. The Astros jumped on Bob Ojeda for three runs in the first, while Bob Knepper blanked New York until the ninth when the Mets chased him with three runs of their own. The game stayed tied until the top of the 14th when the Mets moved in front by a run. But Houston struck right back as Billy Hatcher drilled a one-out homer off the foul pole in left. The war of attrition then moved into the 16th inning and towards its fifth hour as New York scored three times for a seemingly safe lead. But Houston rallied for two in the bottom of the 16th before Jesse Orosco put out the final fire as the Mets captured the National League title with a 7-6 win.

ON THE AIR

The Houston Astros will feature one of the truly veteran broadcasting crews in the majors this season with the likes of Milo Hamilton, former Astros pitcher Larry Dierker and Jerry Trupiano.

The Astros are the fifth major league team for which Hamilton has worked as he was with the Cubs in 1955-57 and then again from 1980-84. Sandwiched between those dates were stops with the Chicago White Sox (1961-65), Atlanta Braves (1966-75) and Pittsburgh Pirates (1976-79).

A native of Fairfield, Iowa, Hamilton has also broadcast a wide variety of sporting events and in previous winters has handled basketball for the DePaul Blue Demons and the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association. This past winter, Hamilton broadcast basketball for both the Kentucky Wildcats and as part of HSE's Southwest Conference coverage.

Entering his third season as a play-by-play man for the Astros is veteran Houston sportscaster Jerry Trupiano. Trupiano has covered the Houston sports scene since 1972 on station KTRH, the flagship of the Astros Baseball Network. In addition to his broadcast duties, Trupiano also serves as the host for KTRH's Sportsbeat talk show and will begin his fifth season as the play-by-play man for the Houston Oilers this fall.

Providing an added insight into the broadcasts is former 20-game winner Larry Dierker who originally joined the broadcast crew in 1979. A veteran of 14 years in the majors, he was Houston's first 20-game winner, going 20-13 in 1969. In addition, he tossed a no-hitter on July 9, 1976 in beating Montreal 6-0 in the Astrodome.

Overseeing the Astros Radio Network and the sales and services involved with it is Art Elliott, who serves as the club's Director of Broadcasting. Elliott enters his 13th year with the Astros, his 11th in his current position.

Rounding out the veteran crew is Bob Green, termed by many as the "Dean of Baseball Engineers". He has been working with the franchise since the first year of operation back in 1962.

ASTRODOME FACTS

STILL THE EIGHTH WONDER...

On April 9, 1965, the Houston weather forecast called for rain, possibly thunderstorms, with strong winds. A perfect day for baseball! That was the day the Astrodome—a Texan's refusal to be shoved around by Mother Nature, as one reporter commented—was unveiled. The world's first all-weather, multi-purpose stadium is the model by which every sports arena since has been measured.

Officially named the Harris County Domed Stadium, the Astrodome was financed by an $18 million general obligation bond which passed in January of 1961. The cost of the project, including off-site improvements, land acquisition, engineering fees, site roads and parking lot paving, was $31.6 million.

The Astrodome and its adjoining facilities—the Astrohall and Astroarena—are operated by the Houston Sports Association (HSA) owners of the Houston Astros. Under a lease agreement with Harris County that extends, with options, to 2044, HSA pays an annual lease fee plus all operating costs for the right to sub-lease the facilities.

RENOVATIONS

A $42 million improvement program has updated all of the Astrodome Complex. Financed by the Harris County's portion of the hotel-motel tax, the renovations began in 1982 with the installation of the Diamond Vision screen in the Astrodome's scoreboard.

Since then, all three buildings on the complex have gradually been transformed.

Inside the Astrodome, as always, customer comfort was a priority. All 52,000 of the stadium's seats have been re-upholstered and painted in vivid hues. Ticket booths at the gates have been covered and lighted. New brickwork at the stadium's entrances protects fans from the weather as they ride to the upper levels.

Restroom facilities for women have been enlarged, and special wheelchair seating areas have been created for the handicapped. For the athletes, locker rooms have been remodeled and updated.

Among the interior improvements, all walls, columns and public areas have been repainted. The exteriors of all three buildings have been steam cleaned and painted.

Much of the work done across the complex was mechanical, including new air conditioning and fire prevention sprinkler systems in the Astrohall and Astroarena. Meetings, trade shows and conventions in these two buildings are extremely comfortable now that new service areas have been created, all the ceiling panels and light fixtures have been replaced, and rooms have been remodeled.

Around the perimeter of the grounds, landscaping, new fencing and sidewalks augment a pleasant, pedestrian atmosphere. Toll plazas at entrances to the property will be rebuilt this year.

A life-sized, bronze statue featuring a cowboy on a horse confronting a young boy on foot, entitled "Dreams and Memories", welcomes visitors to the Astrohall's east side entrance.

While the amount of hotel-motel taxes devoted to stadium complex improvements decreased when the major work was completed, a small percentage will be devoted to ongoing site work, including improvements to the parking lot.

STADIUM COMPLEX COVERS 260 ACRES

The stadium structure covers nine and a half acres of land; the entire Astrodome complex covers 260 acres.

The outside diameter of the Astrodome structure is 710 feet. The stadium's floor is approximately 25 feet below normal ground level, affording minimum vertical travel by fans.

COMFORTABLE CUSHIONED, UPHOLSTERED SEATING

There are 41,000 cushioned, upholstered (seat and back) theatre seats in the Astrodome, along with 4,000 pavilion seats (wooden backs, upholstered seats).

Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia is the only player in the history of the Astrodome to strike one of the overhead speakers in fair territory. On June 10, 1974, Schmidt's mammoth blast struck the speaker in left field and bounced back to short center field, holding him to a single.

Seating capacity for baseball is 45,000; for football, 52,000; for conventions, 60,000; with a maximum of 66,000 for boxing or similar events.

Seating can be arranged to accommodate any type of sports or meeting from rodeos to national political conventions. To convert from baseball to football seating, the stands holding 10,000 seats rotate on steel rails until they parallel the football sidelines.

Seating is arranged on six levels, allowing in effect six front rows. All seats face the center of the playing area for baseball and football with the radius point of the stadium 20 feet behind second base on the baseball diamond. This means that seats in the center field stands are just as close to the center of the action as some of the best seats behind home plate.

DIAMOND VISION AND SCOREBOARD

The Astrodome's scoreboard is an attraction in itself, featuring pertinent information throughout all events. The 474-foot long board consists of two side panels, a Diamond Vision screen, and the famous Home Run Spectacular.

The side panels relay line-ups and scores from across the major leagues, also functioning as message boards during games.

Between them sits the huge Diamond Vision, a 26½ by 37½-foot instant replay screen that brings field action up close for spectators. The screen's clear picture is the product of 43,200 35mm CRTs. (A home television has one CRT.) The Diamond Vision's brain is a state-of-the-art computer, operated by an 11-person crew that includes technicians and cameramen.

The Home Run Spectacular spans across the top of the scoreboard area with a 40-second light display. Over 40,000 tiny lights form images of cowboys riding, roping and shooting; snorting bulls with flags on their horns; the Astrodome with a home run ball exploding through the roof; and fireworks.

RAMPS AND ESCALATORS PROVIDE EASY ACCESS TO SEATS

Wide, low-pitched ramps and two sets of escalators provide easy access to seats. The entire stands can be emptied in nine minutes with a maximum crowd.

UNIQUE ROOF AND LIGHTING SYSTEM

The permanent roof of the dome, which has a clear span of 642 feet (twice that of any previous structure), has a maximum height of 208 feet above the playing field. This would allow the construction of an 18-story building under the roof.

The roof design consists of a steel lamella frame incorporating trussed beams arching upward to meet at the center, braced in a diamond pattern. This steel skeleton supports a roof containing 4,596 cast acrylic sheet skylights (7'2" by 3'4"). The roof can withstand hurricane winds of 135 m.p.h. and gusts of 165 m.p.h.

The playing field is illuminated to an average brightness of 265 footcandles by 800 floodlights. The total electric power consumed exceeds 18,000 KVA, more than that needed by a city of 9,000 population.

OVER 6,000 TONS OF AIR-CONDITIONING

The stadium is completely air-conditioned with 6,600 tons of cooling capacity during events. The system circulates 2.5 million cubic feet of air each minute. Also every minute, 250,000 cubic feet of fresh air is drawn into the stadium, conditioned by electronic filters and activated charcoal odor removers, then distributed through the system. Smoke and hot air are drawn out through the top of the roof.

PLAYING SURFACE

The Astrodome's playing surface is Astro-Turf. Initially only the infield was covered with the man-made material. The entire surface was covered in 1966, and a present surface was installed in April, 1978.

The fastest game a Houston team has ever played came on August 24, 1974 when it took the Astros just 1 hour and 26 minutes to beat the Phillies 1-0 in the Astrodome. The longest game in Houston history took 6 hours and 17 minutes in San Diego on August 15, 1980 when Houston defeated the Padres 3-1 in 20 innings.

PHOENIX Arizona Instructional League

Houston fielded the youngest team in the nine-team league, with 14 players from the previous season's drafts included on the roster. The final record of 11-26 was an indication of that youth, but some of the individual numbers also gave an indication of the talent that was on hand. First baseman Richard Johnson finished 14th in the league with a .284 average and outfielder Doug Snyder was 17th with a .277 mark and a league-leading 28 walks. Snyder led the Astros with three homers, three triples and 21 runs scored, Johnson led with 33 hits, 22 RBI, and nine doubles. Outfielders Gary Cooper hit .318 in 22 games and Bert Hunter .284 in 24 games along with nine steals.

On the mound, Rob Mallicoat bounced back from an injury-plagued regular season by going 1-0 with a 1.80 ERA in three games. Mel Stottlemyre was 0-3 put posted a 3.15 ERA in six starts, good enough for ninth in the league. Reliever Dave Meads struck out 28 in 17 2/3 innings, while Brian Meyer led the bullpen with a 2.76 ERA in 14 games and three saves, Fred Costello, Mike Friederich tied for the team lead with two wins.

On May 4, 1969, Houston established a National League record by turning seven doubleplays. As the Astros' first-baseman in that game against San Francisco, Curt Blefary established a major league mark by participating in all seven.

Joe Morgan tied a National League mark for second basemen by participating in five of the twin-killings and shortstop Denis Menke equaled a major league mark by also taking part in five.

THE 300 CLUB

The Astros' Mike Scott became the 11th pitcher in major league history to fan 300 or more batters in a season. Here's a look at all 11:

Rube Wadell, Philadelphia (1903-301; 1904-349)
 Walter Johnson, Washington (1910-313; 1912-303)
 Bob Feller, Cleveland (1946-348)
 Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles (1963-306; 1965-382; 1966-317)
 Sam McDowell, Cleveland (1965-325; 1970-304)
 Mickey Lolich, Detroit (1971-308)
 Vida Blue, Oakland (1971-301)
 Steve Carlton, Philadelphia (1972-310)
 Nolan Ryan, California (1972-329; 1973-383; 1974-367; 1976-327; 1977-341)
 J.R. Richard, Houston (1978-303, 1979-313)
 MIKE SCOTT, Houston (1986-306)

The Astros are the third club to have two pitchers strikeout more than 300 in a season in their careers, joining the A's (Wadell and Blue) and the Indians (Feller and McDowell).
